

GOD'S WORD – THE HEARTBEAT OF KENYA

The Bible Society's Kenya Project

Fundraising Ideas

In 2010 Bike for Bibles is raising funds for literacy projects in Kenya. Aside from asking people to sponsor you for riding, here are some African themed ideas to help you achieve your fundraising target.

African Themed Dinner Party

Invite your friends over for a meal, ask them to dress like a Masai Warrior or in traditional African dress and charge a fee.

We have recipe and craft sheets available on our website to assist you with your planning.

African Film Night

Have a movie night with your friends with an African theme. Suggestion include Tarzan, Lion King, Born Free and Gorillas in the Mist. Arrange a quiz at the end and fine guests who don't know the answer. Reward correct answers with lollies or small prizes.

Small Change Jar

You can be as creative as you like with this one, it can be as simple as a clean jam jar with a label on it or you can make your own African inspired jar from modelling clay. Leave the jar on your desk at work or in the tea room with a note requesting people's small change for literacy in Kenya. You will be surprised how quickly the jar will fill up.

Long Jumping Coins

This is a great one to do after church or in your office over lunch.

It brings out the competitive spirit in people. Tape a marker to the floor at one end of the room. Mark a start line at the other end of the room. People can throw their gold coin with the aim of ensuring it lands closest to the marker at the end of the room. The closest coin wins a prize. All coins thrown onto the playing field go towards your fundraising efforts.

Trip to the Zoo

Arrange a trip with your friends, workmates, church congregation to Werribee Zoo. You can get group concessions but charge your friends the full retail price. You could also arrange a picnic lunch and add that to the price. This year the Werribee Zoo is supporting a group of 40 women in the Melako Community Conservancy in Northern Kenya so your fundraising will impact twice.